Workplace Wellness

Keeping your employees healthy makes good sense for everyone. Whether you need help with pre-employment assessments, screenings, immunizations, workers' compensation injury care or wellness programs for your workforce, you can turn to UNC Regional Physicians. We offer conveniently located occupational health offices in High Point and Jamestown and onsite wellness services for organizations throughout the Triad.

Employers offering workplace wellness and occupational health services to their employees benefit from:

- Reduced absenteeism
- Fewer on-the-job injuries
- CPR and First Aid certification
- Higher productivity, greater enthusiasm and increased engagement
- Enhanced employee recruitment and retention
- Lower costs for group health insurance
- Lower workers' compensation coverage costs
